WASHINGTON NEWS.

THE ALASKA SEAL CALLING ATTENTION.

Secretary Windom to Let the Business to the Highest Competitive Bidder. WASHINGTON, Dec. 17.—Secretary of the Treasury Windom has decided to refuse the renewal of the lease to the Alaska commercial company, which, since 1870 has had a monopoly of the Alaska seal fishing to the exclusion of all other seal hunters. Secretary Windom has decided to throw the privilege open to general competition and will advertise for bids, for letting the lease to the highest bidder or any company which will give the largest sum and guarantee to the government. By an act of last congress the secretary was authorized to renew the lease of the old company, or to give the privilege to whom he pleased. The matter has been given careful consideration by the secretary and his advisers for two weeks, almost to the total exclusion of other matters. Solicitor Hepburn and Attorney-General Miller were asked for legal opinions and decided that under the act of Congress the secretary had full power to renew the old lease without bids, and could use his own judgment. Advertisements will be issued for publication in a few days, when the form of contract has been fully decided upon. It will undoubtedly be like that under which the Alaska company has been working since 1870. The new contractors will be required to furnish natives employed in fisheries with all the materials for curing their winter's supply of meat and to give forty tons of coal to each village on the islands of St. Paul and St. George; more than this, the company must maintain schools for Indian children on these two islands and must kill only a certain number of seals each year. While the treasury department has been considering this view of the matter the secretary of state has been at work, hoping to make a pacific arrangement with the English foreign affairs office, to give the bidders a feeling of security and warrant that their rights will be protected.

Murders the Witnesses Against Him.

WALLA WALLA, Dec. 17.—A telephone dispatch from Colfax stated that while Frank Braden was being taken to the court house for trial for assault he fired four shots at the witnesses who were to testify against him, the first shot killing Thomas Flint, the second wounding Daniel Noble, the third fatally wounding J. R. Barnett. The resulting excitement is terrible and the sheriff has called upon citizens for help, as he fears Braden will be forcibly taken from his custody and lynched.

ADDITIONAL CITY NEWS.

A FORMER SALEMITE.—A special from Spokane Falls says that the report that Blanton, the murderer of Click, at Colfax yesterday, was lynched last night is unfounded. He is lodged in jail, and the trial is set for next week. Blanton lives at Oakesdale, and has the reputation of being a very "bad" man. His townsmen speak strongly against him. He is 34 years of age. Blanton will probably hang, as many men will swear he made frequent threats to kill both Doble and Click. On the day he went to Colfax he said: "If the grand jury find a true bill against me, I'll fix 'em all." Blanton is well known to all old Salemites. He was a former resident of Marion county, and now has a brother and other relatives living near Salem who are well-respected citizens and neighbors. Blanton, who is spoken of in the telegram was always a hard case, and his parents had no control over him at the State Fair along about the year 1888 he cut and stabbed a boy, named Jones, in a horrible manner. The boy who was assaulted lived and has grown into manhood and can be seen in Salem every day, and with him he carries the marks of that bloody assault. In 1869 he walked into the store of S. Friedman, who was doing business at the corner of State and Commercial, and threatened to take Mr. Friedman's life because he refused to credit him for a bill's worth of tobacco. Murphy was shot at the time with Reynolds as deputy. Mr. Friedman swore out a warrant for Blanton's arrest, and soon after Blanton came into the store disguised, and begged of Mr. Friedman to withdraw the warrant and let him go, to which he consented. Deputy Reynolds arrested him however, and it was hard work for him to escape from the pen. Several years after this Blanton entered the saloon run by John Roy, and because Roy refused to give him a drink, he shot at him and for this was sent up to serve one year in the penitentiary. He left the state shortly after he was released from the penitentiary but has continually been in trouble. His relatives have had nothing to do with him for years as they are well respected by all.

A GOOD OPPORTUNITY FOR SALEM.

The JOURNAL is in receipt of information from a friend, concerning parties who would like to locate in Salem with a large business which would give employment to considerable help, and add much to our city's growth and prosperity. This business can be secured to our town on condition that a fine double store building of two or more stories, in a good location can be bought or leased. This is an opportunity that our wide-awake business men and capitalists should not let slip, as it requires only the necessary attentions to secure it. Things are not as they used to be in Salem. It takes no inducements to get business men here, but on the other hand, they are anxious to come to our live town if they can be accommodated.

Miss Jennie M. Long, the noted

eloquentist and reader, who has made such a large circle of warm friends in our city since her arrival here sometime ago, leaves this evening for a three weeks holiday vacation to Montana. Her friends wish her a pleasant trip and a safe return.
